Tutoring Experience

I began tutoring in 2016, focusing on helping students prepare for A-Level Maths and IGCSE Physics. Over time, I developed expertise in guiding students through challenging topics like mechanics and calculus, while also specialising in preparation for PAT and other entrance exams.

In addition to one-on-one sessions, I have worked with small groups, helping students develop strong analytical skills and problem-solving techniques. My experience spans teaching students from various academic backgrounds, including those aiming for admission to top-tier universities.

Through consistent tutoring and tailored support, I have enabled my students to secure top grades and gain admission to institutions like Oxford and Cambridge, ensuring they are well-prepared for their academic journeys.
